

RETIREMENT

---

Rika Vanderwalt (above) will retire as Senior Managing Editor of the Journal of Surgical Oncology on June 30, 1999. As assistant to the Editor-in-Chief she has been involved in various capacities in the production of this and other publications since 1969 and for the past 14 years has been Assistant Editor and Senior Managing Editor of the Journal of Surgical Oncology. Her successor is Marie Leonard of Seattle, who joined the Editorial Office at the beginning of April this year. Miss Leonard brings a considerable amount of experience to the position and we are confident of a smooth transition. (The new address of the Editorial Office appears at the end of the Journal masthead of this issue).